American Money Paid Hun Agent to Block

How a German agent blocked the purchase of enemy-owned ships in Argentine ports for the Shipping Board, and got thousands of dollars from a New York shipping magnate in addition to his pay from the German government, was told last night by one of the board officials.

This New York mercantile man, whose identity was not divulged, sought to buy German ships in Argentine ports, ostensibly for himself, but actually for the board, and employed a shipping man of American birth and antecedents, whose loyalty was not questioned. After protracted, but strangly unproductive negotiations, with costly fees and expense accounts, investigation showed the negotiator was in the pay of Germany. He is still in Argentine, and so are

The report in the Vienna Neueste Nachrichten predicting that the Holy Father will make a new plea to the consciences of the nations as soon as a period in the Western front fighting has been arrived at is described as a thought fathered by a wish. The Neueste Nachrichten, it is pointed out, is one of the German papers readlest to criticise the government. It is also believed that this paper would be among the first in Germany to admit that Germany has failed of its objectives on the Western front despite the frightful cost in human lives.

When such a contingency arrives, it is pointed out, Germany would be only too glad to have a peace move come from the Pope. The Pope's attitude has been sketched here with some color of authority however. He is represented as unwilling to make another peace offer unless fairly sure of its success. In view of the well settled determination of the allies to fight on until the German military power is broken beyond repair, it is not believed that the Pope will come forward in the near future.
